ABSTRACT

This catalog provides information on the 159 vocational/career education programs which have been funded by the 1968 Vocational Amendments and Wisconsin's 16 vocational technical and adult education districts to provide services to special needs students. The preface indicates that many innovative methods and techniques for training special needs students can be found in the various programs, which provide pre-vocational and supportive services for special needs students in addition to modifications in vocational curriculum areas. The intended audience is high school and vocational-technical adult education (VTAE) counselors and agencies, and persons who are working with special needs students. The table of contents provides a listing of the disadvantaged and handicapped occupational programs. Each program citation includes title, address, name, and phone number of an information contact and an administrative contact, type of handicapped students served, and a one- or two-sentence program description. The index provides a quick reference for the identification of programs by pre-vocational, supportive service, and curriculum areas. (HD)

PREFACE

This publication contains information on the 159 Vocational/Career Education programs which have been funded by the 1968 Vocational Ammendments and Wisconsin's 16 Vocational Technical and Adult Education Districts to provide services to Special Needs Students. This is not a comprehensive listing of all programs for Special Needs Students in Wisconsin. Other programs have been developed through categorical aids and through VTAE District initiated activities which receive no special funding.

These programs reflect the great amount of work being carried on in Special Needs Education by the 16 Wisconsin VTAE Districts. Although there is still much work remaining to be done in order to provide vocational education to Special Needs Students, these programs have provided access to the VTAE system for these Special Needs Students. The programs have helped coordinate school and community resources and have made communities more aware of the needs of the handicapped and disadvantaged persons.

Many innovative methods and techniques for training Special Needs Students can be found in the various programs. The programs provide pre-vocational and supportive services for Special Needs Students in addition to modifications in vocational curriculum areas. Sources of information on where these programs are located and names of persons to contact for further information is provided. This information should be of special interest to high school and VTAE counselors, agencies and persons who are working with Special Needs Students.

USING THE INFORMATION

Information provided in this publication was developed in cooperation with the Wisconsin Board of Vocational Technical and Adult Education and the Center for Studies in Vocational and Technical Education at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. This was done as a part of the Center's larger project, Modifying Programs for the Handicapped, which is funded by the WBVTAE. It is hoped that the information contained in this publication will produce benefits for the State of Wisconsin as well as the nation.

The Table of Contents provides a listing of the Disadvantaged and Handicapped Occupational Programs, Section I, and a listing of Consumer and Homemaking Education Programs for the Disadvantaged and Handicapped, Section II, in each VTAE District.

The Index provides a quick reference for the identification of programs by pre-vocational, supportive service and curriculum areas.

Teachers and administrators in the VTAE system can use this information to identify and share common areas of interest as they provide services to students with special needs. Personnel outside the VTAE system can use this information to direct clients into the VTAE programs. These personnel would include persons working with CETA Prime Sponsors, Area Manpower Planning Boards, Community Service Boards, Employment and Rehabilitation Services, and High School and VTAE counseling departments.

For further information you may contact the VTAE Districts, WBVTAE, or the Center for Studies in Vocational and Technical Education, University of Wisconsin-Madison.
